We do not collect for commercial purposes, any information about people or organisations that email, write to, phone, or fax us. We only use them to respond to queries and for uses such as internal web site review, and if requested, to notify you of new products or services or to send invitations to exhibitions we may hold. If you have contacted us through our fax-back order form, you may receive phone calls, emails, or faxes from us. These contacts are necessary in the course of business practice and information provided to us is not shared with other organisations. We do not permanently record credit card numbers required for mail order transactions, beyond the requirements of our respective credit card and merchant service provider.

If you have any questions about this privacy statement, the practices of this site, or your dealings with our organisation, please let us know by email, phone, or fax.
